FIDDLERS TO-NIGHT.

Long Looked For Date at Hand
And Big Time Ahead.

Many Visitors Already in Town
And The Various Contests
Will Be Lively.

The Old Fiddlers' Contest at the Tabernacle to-night, in spite of this unfavorable weather most of this week, bids fair to surpass even the expectations of the promoters. A large number of advance seats have been sold and the crowd is expected to be tremendous. Fortunately the big Tabernacle contains room enough for all and a crowd of even 4,000 can be comfortably seated. A delegation from McLezeue, Teney, and other points in that state, arrived last night.

The Clarksville people will arrive at 9:30 this morning and every incoming train to day will swell the crowd in the city.

The visiting judges, H. H. Holleman, of Madisonville; Jack R. Wylie, of Princeton, and W. W. Barkdale, of Clarksville, will stop with friends in the city. Most of the performers from a distance will be quartered at the Phoenix Hotel, which will be "Fiddlers' Headquarters." The Tabernacle decorations were all put in place yesterday and the public will be treated to an agreeable surprise in the novelty and taste displayed in the arrangements.

ARMS BOUND

And Victim Thrown into a Blazing Fire.

Irratic Makes a Desperate Effort to Burn His Mother to Death.

Roy Courtney, a lunatic, attempted to kill his mother, widow of the late J. M. Courtney, near Concord, Wednesday. Young Courtney was sent to the asylum in 1894, and in August last was turned out of the institution on parole. Since that time he had been making his home with his mother and it was thought that his mind had been fully restored. A few days ago, however, he again displayed symptoms of lunacy. On Wednesday he suddenly became violent and seizing his mother, beat her arms with a rope, and dragging her across the room, threw her into the fire. Her severies a treated with members of the family in her room and she was rescued from the flames. Next day the hand was burned from her head, and the neck, shoulders and parts of her body were badly blistered.

Mrs. Courtney's injuries, while quite painful, are not thought to be of a very serious character.

The authorities were notified of the deed and deputy C. J. Barnes, went out and arrested Courtney and his son to the city the same afternoon. He was immediately tried and returned to the asylum. The young man, after being arrested, became more violent than ever and the officers experienced considerable trouble in conveying him here.

MINER KILLED.

Terrible Tragedy Took Place at Nortonville Tuesday.

Nortonville, Ky., April 16.—A tragedy was enacted here this evening when Isaac Todd, a non-union miner employed at the Oak Hill Coal Company's mines, was shot and killed by Roscoe Garrett, a union miner and ex-employee of the said company. Garrett

RIPLEY CASE.

Argument in Progress Yesterday
In Assassination Trial.

Verdict Expected Without Much Delay—Opinions Differ as to the Result.

Frankfort, Ky., April 17.—The evidence in the Ripley case closed to day, and court adjourned until tomorrow to give Judge Cantrell time to prepare his instructions and to enable the attorneys to arrange their arguments.

The defense placed Col. John B. Castleman on the stand to-day to prove that ball cartridges were a part of the necessary equipment of a military company. The rest of the evidence for the defense was not important.

Reluctantly the Commonwealth introduced Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Matthews. They both stated that Ripley said to them that he knew enough about the killing of Goebel to acquit Caleb Powers if he should testify at his trial, and that Taylor was a coward for running away from a trial. Ripley could not remember these statements on cross examination.

The instructions of the court will be given to the jury in the morning and the argument will proceed in the order heretofore stated.

It is generally predicted here that the result of the trial will be either a verdict of acquittal or a hung jury.

GOING HIGHER.

If You Want Tobacco, Now's
Time to Buy.

Tobacco Sales This Week And Receipts Much Heavier Than Last Report.

The tobacco market this week saw prices realized and sales amounted to considerably more. Receipts were also heavier, totaling up about 400 bushels. No fine leaf was offered, but good leaf, run in prices from $8 up to $10. The demand was good for all sorts offered and bidding was spirited throughout. Lugs and companies were active and commanded outside figures on quotations of last week.

The crop of 1900 is very much shorter than was at first thought and the prospects are good for the week to go much higher before the end of the present season for selling. Sales for the week amounted to 357 bushels, red for the year.

SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT.

Tuennpike Companies Will Probably Sett at County's Figures.

The Fiscal Court was in session again yesterday and made a final effort to reach a settlement with the turnpike companies. The aggregate offer of $68,000 will probably make the basis of a settlement.

While the deliberations were secret, it is understood that nearly all of the roads have accepted the offers made and all are expected to do so.

Bought 48 Miles.

The following pikes were purchased yesterday afternoon:
Kentucky and Tennessee, (Clarksville) 11 miles. . . . $ 9,000
Hopkinsville, Canton and Newstead, 10½ miles. . . . $15,000
Union Turnpike Company, 19 miles. . . . $24,000

A total of about 48 miles for $87,000. An offer of $4,500 was made for the Summers' road of 3½ miles and was rejected.

$6,750 for the Hopkinsville & Clark's branch road of about 4 miles.

The purchase of all these pikes

SPENT WINTER IN AIR.

Two Families of Tramps Have Thrilling Experience.

When the great Ferris wheel was made ready yesterday to resume business after its winter closing, two families of tramps, comprising eleven members, with some women and children, were discovered installed and living comfortable in one of the swinging cars. These Bohemians told the police they had been camping out thus all winter.

They first entered the cars on break night when they were wandering homeless in the streets. They scaled the fence in search of shelter, and found the deserted wheel in the enclosure so comfortable that they remained, sleeping nights on the cushioned benches of the cars.

They first selected the lowest cars, but one day two engineers who had been sent to examine the machinery for some reason, made the great wheel describe half a turn. So the camping families, never daring to make a sign, were hoisted to the topmost position. Since that time only one man, a former sailor could communicate with the earth.

"She can't bear to have me leave her," said Mrs. Wilkins. "Just see how she twitches and how her eyes roll. She says she wants to scream and go out and run up and down the street as hard as she can steer. I think I had better have a doctor in to see her, Eveline."

There came a sharp protest from the bed. "I don't want any old doctors," said Berthine. "If you bring one here it will drive me frantic. Just stay here and hold my hand."

"But you've got to eat something," said Aunt Eveline. "Here, you go downstairs and eat your dinner and I'll stay with her."

After some pressing Mrs. Wilkins did this, but when she went down Uncle Dick promptly announced his intention of taking charge of the invalid. "I'll telephone and get our doctor over before I go," he added. "He's a good man, and I'm pretty sure he will be able to do her some good."

"But she'll have a fit of hysterics if you do that. She doesn't want any

DIED FULLY DRESSED.

Fourteen Days in Bed Previous to Her Death.

Mrs. Mariah Summers, a Warren county woman twenty years of age, died at her home near Sand Hill a few days ago, says the Glasgow Times. She went to bed fourteen days previous to her death and absolutely refused to be undressed. She lay in bed and died with her clothes, shoes and bonnet on.

The wheel company not only refused to press the charge of trespassing, but offered the mother and infant a salary of $60 a month to exhibit themselves throughout the coming season in the car in which the child was born — (Paris cable to the Chicago Chronicle).

LIFE'S CHANGEFUL SEA.

Love, we'll call life's changeful sea,

You and I together, Facing fortune cheerfully,

Bright or stormy weather,

What though winter comes a frost

Blister each cheek and freeze the blood,

Bare, wet weather ate the blist,

Love, our helmsman, steering,

What though black and gloomy skies

Like each day's tempest driving —

In the eyes of your eyes,

Love's horizon still is glowing.

Or upon bright summer seas,

Where soft gales are sighing,

We're still as happy as a podie,

In love's light ever living.

So we'll call life's changeful sea,

You and I together,

Facing fortune cheerfully,

Bright or stormy weather.

"Nonsense!" said Uncle Dick, firmly, going over to the telephone.

"What did you come up here for?" I don't want you," said Berthine, languidly, when her aunt left the room.

Uncle Dick sat down very deliberately by the bedside, and, adjusting his glasses, smiled amably at his niece.

"Joy seems to be having a spell of the jocks," he said, presently. "I'm going to cure you. I'm not going to hold your hand, either, or put cracked ice on your fevered brow. I'm just going to indulge you. If you want to yelp, you've got my permission to raise the roof, if you can, and if you want to sprint up and down the avenue for awhile I'll go along and pace you. I want you to feel at home."

"Where's mother?" said her to-mate.

"I've sent her off by the evening train to Buffalo. You're going to stay with your old uncle and be his girl."

"I think you are horrid. I wish you'd go away."

"You make me feel bad when you talk like that. What's your game, Berthine?"

The girl turned her head for an instant and looked at her self-constituted nurse. Just for an instant, and then Uncle Dick thought he heard a faint giggle. He repeated his question in a cheery, persuasive way.

"I don't know what you mean," she said, when he asked her the third time.

"Oh, yes, you do. Now, don't you think that you ought to be ashamed of yourself?"

The response to this was a sob, followed by another, and another, in increasing violence.

Her uncle got up and seized the water pitcher and a large sponge. Saturating the sponge, he squeezed it out on the girl's face, whereupon she gave a very genuine scream and bounced off the bed.

"Better already," commented Uncle Dick. "Nothing like a cold, wet sponge in cases of this kind. Do you think you'd like some more, Berthine? Or shall I get you a towel?"

Berthine held out her hand for the towel.

"Now, then," continued Uncle Dick, in a confidential tone. "I'm dead on to you, my dear, but I don't see any reason why we shouldn't come to an understanding. Don't look sulky, Berthine; I'm your friend, and I'm not going to give you away if you'll be good; but you want to get down to business. You are wasting altogether too much time on preliminaries. There's going to be a doctor here in about ten minutes. I shall see him first. What do you want me to tell him to prescribe for you?"

He plied his hands on his knees and regarded her smugly. She looked at him through half-closed eyes with an expression at first sullen and then relaxing into a half-smile.

"I want a bivalve while we are up here, and I'm going to have it," she said.

In effect that was what the doctor prescribed for her after he had felt her pulse and heard at her tongue. But she was feeling very much better even then.

Aunt Eveline talked the matter over with her husband that night after their return had gone to bed. "I was really glad that the poor girl was going to have a serious illness," she said. "I think, though, that there's a great deal in the influence of a calm and strong personality over anyone of her temperament. The half hour that you were with her seemed to have a wonderful effect."

"I guess it did," said Uncle Dick.

"I believe thoroughly in the theory of vibrations."

"Modulated by pneumatic tires," said Uncle Dick, ingenuously. "I should like to know somebody tell me why it is that a woman takes such great joy in the exercise of — well, diplomacy, to get something that she might have for the asking. Girls are harder to understand than women, too, I believe. I know I can't understand them. I can make a successful guess once in awhile, though," he added, with conscious pride.

"What on earth are you talking about?" asked Aunt Eveline. — Chicago Record-Herald.

There died in Clarksville Monday night an aged negress, who often boasted that she had killed the pony many a time for Gen. Washington and his troops in Virginia. Rachel Duke, to the best knowledge of those acquainted with her life, could have been not less than 126 years old. She was born when her mother was but little over 13 years of age. She was remarkably active and retained her faculties almost to the very last. She was the slave of the Duke family, of Virginia, and came to Tennessee with a Miss Duke, who became the second wife of the late W. D. Moss, who for many years lived not far from Lafayette.

FARM WORK.

Progressing Most Favorably Throughout Christian County.

All kinds of farm work is progressing most favorably throughout this county. Owing to good weather which generally prevailed during the winter months and early spring, the farmers of this section are at least a month in advance with their work. Considerable corn has been planted and large quantities of coin land is broken, and is ready for planting. Gardens were planted out some time ago, and are several weeks ahead of the usual season. Good rains have fallen, which were needed on the gardens, and to put the ground in better condition for plowing. The prospects for a good crop this year are better at this season than at the same time in a number of years.

A Welcome Exhibition.

The announcement that Prof. Gentry's Famous Dog and Pony Show is soon to exhibit in this city has led to numerous inquiries about the details such as the location of the grounds and price of admission. The character of the show is so well known that the people will regard the information as news, and consequently we have made inquiries with the following result: The show, which it is needless to mention, is the best one of its kind in the world, will exhibit under their own waterproof tents, which will be located on Campbell street, near Acme Mills, at 2:30 and 8 p.m., Thursday, April 25.

The prices of admission are: children 25 cents, adults 35 cents, and when the magnitude and artistic worth of the show is taken into consideration it will easily be seen that the prices of admission are decidedly reasonable.

It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale by all druggists.

FLAG WITH A HISTORY.

Condensed Account of the First Emblem of the Confederate States of North America.

The first flag raised as an emblem of the confederacy has had an interesting history. It was first used in South Carolina, the mother state in the affair, and named Confederate States of America. It is in the possession of the family of the late Capt. Henry W. Hand, of New Jersey.

The flag is eight feet long by six feet broad. The body is turkey red and the immensity star and crescent in the upper left-hand corner are of white. It was made by the widow of Charles S. C., on the eve of their state's secession, December 20, 1860. The next day it was hoisted over the city custhouse. Its owner, Capt. Henry W. Hand, died in 1881, leaving no heirs. Shortly afterwards the Dixie, a mail privateer and blockade runner, started on its degradations, and, as the young confederacy had adopted no official banner at that time, this flag was presented to him. In the spring of '61 the flag was captured by the United States steamer Keystone State, and Capt. Hand, who was then under orders, hoisted the vessel and hauled down his flag. His commander gave a permit to retain the emblem. It has since been a treasure in his family ever since.

Western Diplomacy Warn.
Not long ago there was a question about "precedence" at the white house in relation to going to dinner between the president and the speaker of the house, which was easily settled in favor of the western congressman, whose wife was very rich but thought very little on such subjects. She was in Washington for a good time, and resolved to have it without her brother. This fearless woman gave a dinner party, and invited all the men in time to get her guests to the drawing-room to the dining-room she arose and said: "There is some precedence about this, but I don't know what it is, and haven't time to learn. Just walk in, take off your coat, and sit down anywhere you please." That says that this stroke of western diplomacy worked perfectly, and the dinner was enjoyed to the utmost.

Where Snow Is Worth Money.
Snow sells in the north of Italy for about one cent a pound. It is a government monopoly, and the prince of Palermo derives the greater part of his income from it. The snow is brought in a boat and sent to Sicily, where it is stored in large tanks for the winter months.

A Helpless Child.
A weak old person can hardly keep up the load of life. It is isolated from the healthy elements of its little fellow-beings. It cannot partake either of their play or their sturdy work and progress of the world; its whole life is enshrouded by incapacity and weakness.

Tutt's Liver Pills keep the bowels in natural motion and cleanse the system of all impurities. An absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation and kindred diseases.

"Can't do without them"

R. P. Smith, Chilesburg, Va. writes I don't know how I could do without them. I have had Liver disease for over twenty years. Am now entirely cured.

Tutt's Liver Pills

A Pole tells lies even in his old age.

Don't Be Fooled.

It does not pay. If you have a good thing tell it right out. Don't use false means to attract attention. We say right out and mean it, too. That Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Peppermint is the best medicine for the cure of any case of liver trouble. It will stop any pain caused by indigestion; it cures sick headache by attacking the cause of the complaint and aids you to digest your food no matter what you eat. Sold by C. K. Wylie.

In Poland the women are stronger than the men.

True to it.

George L. Heard of High Tower, Georgia writes: "Eezomine broke out on my baby covering his entire body. Under the treatment of the family physician he got so bad he could not sleep for the burning and itching. We used a box of Banner Salve on him and by the time it was gone he was well. This doctor ~~saw~~ it was doing him good so I stuck to it for it is doing him more good than anything I have done for him. All drugists.

Pray to God, but keep rowing to the shore.

Given up to Die with Grief.

Mrs. E. L. Conder of Maysville, Ky., writes: "My three year old girl had a severe case of croup, the doctors said she could not live and I gave her up to die. I went and found a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, the first dose gave quick relief and saved her life. All drugists.

Drink at table—not behind a pillar.

The wolf asked the goat to dinner; the goat respectfully declined.

Nearly every person needs a ton in medicine at this time of the year to brace up and invigorate the nervous system, to cleanse the bowels, liver and kidneys. Herbine is the best and safest remedy to do this, as it will cure constipation, regulate the liver and enrich the blood. Price 40 cents.

If acquainted with a bear, keep hold of an ax.

The Moal Stubborn Cough

resulting from an attack of the grippe or heavy cold, must yield to the wonderful healing properties of Foley's Honey and Tar, which strengthens the lungs and makes them strong. All drugists.

The biggest calf makes not the sweetest veal.

Most women with female weakness suffer dreadfully with piles, in addition to their other pains. They may be cured by using Taber's Buckeye Pile Ointment. Price, 50¢, in bottles. Tubes 75 cents. R. C. Hardwick.

Never haggle about the basket if you get the fruit.

Dr. Freeman, Pensacola, Fla., writes: "Nothing like Foley's Honey and Tar," is the universal opinion of all who have used it. Especially has this been true of coughs accompanying the grippe not a single bottle failed to give relief. All drugists.

He that saveth his dinner will have the more supper.

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and a bottle of Ballard's Horsebold Syrup used in time is worth a staff of physicians with a drug store or two included. R. C. Hardwick.

There is winter enough for the snipe and woodcock, too.

VACANT HOUSE

Destroyed By Fire And Loss Was Total

The residence of Robert Quarles, col., near the L. & N. water tank, was destroyed by fire about 1 o'clock yesterday morning.

Quarles had, a few days ago, moved his furniture out of the building in order that some repairs might be made. He had no insurance on the building.

It is thought that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

Engagement Announced.

The coming marriage on June 5 of Miss Marian Worsham to Henry P. Barrett, at Henderson, has been announced. Miss Worsham is a daughter of Postmaster A. J. Worsham.

All of the characters were so well sustained that it would not be fair to any of them to single out others for special mention. From start to finish the play moved through five acts without a hitch or break and much of the acting would have done credit to professionals. Miss Nora Anderson as Kate Hardcastle and Miss Katie Manson as Constance Neville, and Mr. Clifton Long as Young Marlow and Mr. Duke Nelson as George Hastings were the quartette upon whom devolved the responsibility of making the frequent love-making scenes a success. The charming acting of the young ladies and the self-possession and versatility displayed by their lovers showed that though new to the stage they were not altogether without experience somewhere in the difficult roles assumed.

George Howell's "Tony Lumpkin" thoroughly pleased the crowd and brought out the humor of the play in a most creditable manner. Wallace Kelly as Squire Hardcastle did some exceedingly clever work and added to his popularity attained heretofore on the local stage.

Merrie Bacon in a double role did well in both parts and Lewis Elgin's Diggory kept the audience laughing. Miss Lalla Dennis made a most attractive Maid, playing well in the minor part.

Mrs. Walter Wilson as Mrs. Hardcastle interpreted her part in a most pleasing manner.

John Gunn, Lewis Payne, Ellis McKeon, Lawson Flack, Jim Bramham and Ben Winfree, as revellers and associates of the mischievous Tony Lumpkin, made the best of their opportunities.

The net proceeds were $70, which will go to the Public School Alumni Society.
